ASSET ALLOCATION

PERFORMANCE REVIEW

Over the second quarter of 2019, the Fund returned 1.34% significantly outperforming the benchmark return of 0.14%. On a 12-month basis, the Fund returned 5.41%, an outperformance of 493 basis points over the benchmark which returned 0.48% for the same period.

PERFORMANCE COMMENTARY

The continued stability in the banking sector liquidity has proved negative for the Fund's performance in that banks are increasingly offering lower rates for fixed deposits. This presents reinvestment risk for the fund as maturing assets are bound to be invested at lower levels. That said, over the quarter we were able to lock in attractive rates as isolated banks in short-term liquidity needs presented compelling yields.

OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

Real GDP for the first quarter of 2019 increased by 4.3% y-o-y, an increase from the previous quarter's level of 4.1% growth. The growth in GDP continues to be broad-based with all industries registering positive growth over the quarter. The afore-mentioned growth was led by real value added of Transport & Communications and Trade, Hotels & Restaurants which increased by 5.9% and 5.7% respectively.

Despite an accommodative stance by the Central Bank, inflation remains persistently low and further declined during the second quarter of 2019, falling below the minimum 3-6% BoB target range. Having opened the quarter at 3.3%, headline inflation dropped to 2.5% in April before rising to 2.6% and 2.8% in May and June respectively. We believe the decline in inflation is due to low inflationary pressures domestically, despite the accommodative monetary policy environment. This is on the backdrop of high unemployment levels as well as low discretionary income.

The Bank Rate was maintained at 5.00% over the quarter and we believe that this accommodative stance will persist throughout 2019 as supported by the 2019 Monetary Policy Statement released in February which highlights that in 2019, policy implementation 'will focus on entrenching expectations of low and sustainable inflation'.

We are continuously on the lookout for opportunities in which we can pick up yield and focus on corporate credit exposure to enhance the yield.
